

Quick Guide To The Library Catalogue

How do I access the catalogue?

The library catalogue has over 200,000 books and e-books and can be accessed at work or home, on any device. You can access the catalogue from this link <https://now.koha-ptfs.co.uk/>, from the library website or scan the QR code.

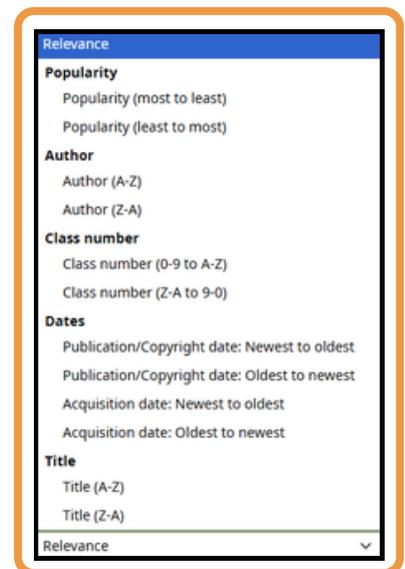

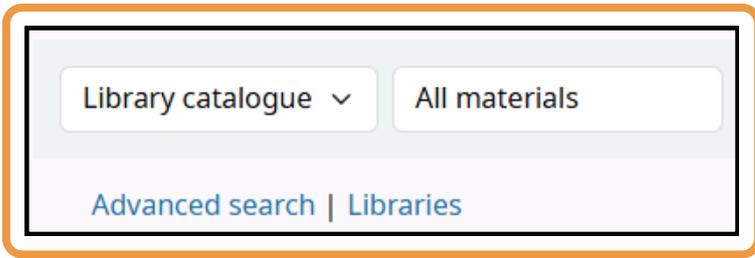

How do I search the catalogue?

You can do a general keyword search and then refine your search, using the options on the left side of screen.

You can also choose the order that the results are shown, using the options on the right side of the screen.

You can also use the Advanced Search. This is useful if you know the title of the book.

How do I access e-books?

You can only access the full-text of your home library's e-books. You will need an NHS OpenAthens account to access our e-books. You can register for an account here <https://openathens.nice.org.uk/> or scan the QR code.

Link to resource	Available 24/7 with OpenAthens account

- Search the catalogue and click on the image of the e-book you want to access.
- Click on Link to resource.
- On the next page, search for your organisation, suggestions will appear. Click on the correct suggestion.

- If you are not already logged in, you will need to login with your NHS OpenAthens account.
- You should now be able to see the e-book of your choice.

The e-book will look different depending on the platform/publisher it is on.
